Senate Rejects Bid to Help Low Income Group

By JOE HALL

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate rejected today 71-23 an amendment by Sen. Paul H. Douglas, D-Ill., designed to revise the $11.6-billion tax cut bill to give a greater share to low-income families.

He proposed to increase the new minimum standard deduction feature in the bill to give an additional $960 million of tax relief to such families. All but $90 million of this revenue loss would have been recouped by cutting back on the corporate rate reductions in the bill so that the new maximum rate would be 50 per cent instead of 48 per cent as the measure now provides. The present ceiling is 52 per cent.

The minimum standard deduction provision in the bill allows each taxpayer a $300 deduction plus $100 for each of his dependents.

It could be used as an alternative to the present standard deduction of 10 per cent up to a maximum of $1,000.

A four-person family with income of $6,000 or less would gain from the new provision.

Douglas proposed to raise the new deduction to $400 for the taxpayer plus $200 for each additional exemption up through the sixth.

A battle was in prospect over a Republican proposal to repeal the 10 per cent excise tax on jewelry, watches, luggage, cosmetics and furs.

The vote was expected to be just as close as Tuesday when the administration forces beat back—by only three votes each time—major drives to retain the credit on stock dividends and to give a tax break to parents putting children through college.

There seemed to be a good chance the $11.6-billion tax-cut bill would be passed by Thursday night, well ahead of the time expected earlier.

Sen. Thurston B. Morton, R-Ky., planned to offer the amendment to repeal the excise tax in the absence of Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen, Ill., who is hospitalized.

Republicans contend the levies, mostly dating from World War II, are nuisances and should be cut out. The estimated gross revenue from wiping out the excises in the four categories is $450 million a year.

Administration supporters contend that the subject of excises should not be brought in on the pending bill.

Democratic senators supplied 47 votes Tuesday night to defeat a Morton amendment which would have stripped from the bill the repeal of the 4 per cent credit allowed on stock dividend income.

All of the 31 Republicans present plus 13 Democrats supported the proposal. It would have eliminated from the bill its biggest revenue-producing section. Repeal of the dividend credit would yield an estimated $300 million a year for the Treasury.

The defeat of the amendment indicated that the repealer, put into the bill in the House, would be retained in the final version of the legislation.

In another close finish Tuesday, an amendment of Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., to allow a tax break on college education costs was defeated 48 to 45.

Lights Cigarette, Almost Drowned

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Jess E. Wright, 43, lighted a cigarette and almost drowned.

Driving along Fall Creek Parkway Tuesday, Wright took a deep drag, choked and fainted. His car ran over a curb, rolled down a bank and went into the creek.

"The next thing I knew, my hand was dangling in water," Wright said.

He waded ashore, unhurt and vowed: "I'm giving up smoking."

Johnson Asks Bill to Protect Consumers

By FRANK CORMIER

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson asked Congress today for new laws to protect consumers against phony packaging and disguised interest charges. And he suggested possible use of federal experts to help low-income families prepare household budgets.

Johnson, in a special message on consumer interests, endorsed nine specific pieces of legislation including pending bills to ban deceptive packaging and to require full disclosure of interest rates on installment purchases.

"For far too long," Johnson said, "the consumer has had too little voice and too little weight in government."

The President said that while labor, business, farmers and professional groups have been well represented, the consumer "has had to take a back seat."

The most novel idea in the message — the use of trained government workers to help low-income families learn more about budgeting and how to "get the most for their money" — was not put forward in the form of legislation.

Instead, Johnson said he was asking all federal agencies interested in consumer education to explore fully the possibility of adapting the Agricultural Extension Service concept, "so successful in rural areas," to cities and towns.

The President also said the government would try to promote consumer education in the schools and encourage more young people "to seek instruction in the fundamentals of budgeting, buying and borrowing."

He said his committee on consumer interests soon will begin a series of regional conferences to explore "the problems of adequate consumer information."

Johnson devoted most attention to truth-in-packaging proposals.

"I recommend legislation to insure that the consumer has access to the information necessary to make a rational choice among competing packages of products," he said.

As for truth-in-lending, he called for a new law that would require lenders to disclose in advance the total amount of interest to be paid and the annual rate of interest.

Other legislative recommendations were:

Ozan Comes Through With Dimes

"The citizens of a small community named Ozan, with a population of only 95, have hearts of gold," explained Mrs. Lura Impson, campaign director for the March of Dimes.

Seemingly, every resident of this small town is in complete harmony. Mrs. Dortha McKillip, March of Dimes Chairman in Ozan, holds an annual coffee in her home. Everyone comes, enjoys the fellowship and gives a contribution to the March of Dimes. This year $48.50 was contributed through this coffee.

Mrs. McKillip explained, "Last year when everyone in town turned out, I thought they were just coming to see what I was like, having just moved here from California. This year, I know better, they are lovely people wishing to help the March of Dimes."

Mrs. Impson adds her thanks and appreciation to all citizens of Ozan and especially to Mrs. McKillip, and the three ladies that assisted her, Mrs. Norman Bradford, Mrs. Carroll Tollett and Mrs. John Streich.

Union Official Tells of Offer From Hoffa

By GAVIN SCOTT

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) — A Teamsters official-turned-informer testified today that James R. Hoffa told him of plans to "try to get to a few scattered jurors" in the Teamsters' president's conspiracy trial.

Edward Grady Partin, Baton Rouge, La., Teamsters officer, testified over heated defense objections at the jury-tampering trial of Hoffa and five other men. His was the first testimony linking Hoffa with any alleged jury-fixing efforts so far in the trial, now in its third week.

"He called me to his room," said Partin, business manager of Baton Rouge Local No. 5. "He told me he'd like for me to stick around a few days. He might want me to talk to a few people."

"He said they were going to get to one juror and try to get to a few scattered jurors and take a chance."

Hoffa and the others are accused of trying to influence jurors in the 1962 Nashville trial.

The government won a major victory when U.S. Dist. Judge Frank Wilson this morning permitted Partin to testify.

The defense, stunned by the informer's surprise appearance Tuesday had sought to block his testimony on grounds he had been planted illegally in their midst by the Justice Department.

"I find the government did not place him in the midst of the defense," Judge Wilson said. "He was knowingly and voluntarily placed there by one of the defendants."

Partin had testified Tuesday that Hoffa had invited him to Nashville on the day his 1962 trial began to discuss union business.

Defense lawyers flew in overnight from Washington a lawyer who defended Hoffa in the 1962 trial.

"I knew there was a serious security leak among the defense counsel," testified Daniel Maher, the lawyer. The government, he said, had "seemingly uncanny ability to predict our moves."

He said he once inquired about Partin — who said he was in constant contact with defense lawyers and Justice Department officials during the 1962 trial. But, Maher said, he was assured by Hoffa and one of his lawyers, "He's one of us; he's all right."

When Partin — under indictment in Baton Rouge for stealing union funds — took the stand Tuesday, the defense objected bitterly, asserting use of his testimony would be a violation of privacy.

State Rests in Beckwith Murder Case

By BILL CRIDER

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — The defense calls news witnesses today in a drive to rip up the state's case against Byron De La Beckwith, charged with murder.

Hardy Lott of Greenwood, chief defense lawyer, said he hoped to wind up the 10-day-old trial by Thursday.

The prosecution rested its case Tuesday. In nearly four days of testimony, Dist. Atty. William L. Waller called 35 witnesses in an effort to prove Beckwith, 43, ambushed Medgar Evers.

Evers, 37, was state field secretary for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. He was killed by a sniper when he stepped from his car at his home here last June 12.

Waller's final witness, Dr. F.G. Bratley of Jackson, testified that a new pink scar arched over Beckwith's right eye could have been due to a blow from a telescopic sight jolted backward by a rifle's recoil.

Evers was killed by a bullet from a 30.06 Enfield. A rifle of that make, equipped with a telescopic sight, was found carefully hidden about 150 feet from the sniper's nest where the killer lay in wait.

No witnesses said they actually saw the killer.

SNOW TROUBLE — The Southwest's worst snowstorm of the winter has isolated towns and stranded travelers behind drifts up to seven feet. Blizzard conditions are forecast from the Texas and Oklahoma Panhandles into Kansas. The city of Borger, Texas, was virtually isolated by 21½ inches of snow, the most ever to fall on the community in 24 hours. New Mexico state police reported motorists were stranded wholesale on U.S. 44 east and west of Tucumcari, N.M., where 14 inches of snow fell overnight. All roads in the Oklahoma Panhandle were closed to car traffic. Schools closed as snow mounted to 12-16 inches in the area with drifts up to seven feet. In Albuquerque, N.M., three year old Jimmy Freed and Emilio Salazar, background, remove a blanket of snow from their parked cars.

Accommodations Amendments Are Defeated

By JOHN BECKLER

WASHINGTON (AP) — One final challenge remains today to House approval of a strong public accommodations section in the civil rights bill.

A Republican-sponsored amendment that would severely limit its application posed the last threat to a bipartisan coalition that easily turned back Southern attempts to weaken the section Tuesday.

Still ahead are fights over other sections of the 10-part bill, but many Negro leaders regard the public accommodations provision as its heart.

It would prohibit discrimination against Negroes by hotels, motels, restaurants, theaters or other places open to the general public, a type of discrimination that sparked many Negro demonstrations last year and helped generate pressure for a strong bill.

Southern opponents took a shot at cutting down the coverage of the section Tuesday but were badly beaten in an impressive display of strength and cohesion by Democrats and Republicans supporting the bill.

An amendment by Rep. Edwin E. Willis, D-La., the Southern floor leader, to cover only hotels and motels serving mostly interstate travelers, was defeated 165 to 93. And one by Rep. Howard W. Smith, D-Va., that would have completely nullified the provision, went down 149 to 107.

The amendment to be offered today by Rep. George Meader, R-Mich., poses a more serious problem for the bill's supporters.

Arkansas Gets Badly Needed Rain

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Arkansas received a rare commodity today — a general rain, badly needed to moisten forests and grasslands and lessening a fire threat the state has lived with since last summer.

The early-morning rain area covered the entire state. The U.S. Weather Bureau at Little Rock said the rain should end late this afternoon or tonight, before cooler weather hits the state Thursday.

Maximum temperatures Tuesday were generally in the mid 50s and low 60s. Overnight minimums were in the mid 40s.

The five-day outlook calls for temperatures to average two to six degrees below normal (highs of 46 north to 37 south and lows of 25 north to 37 south) with only minor changes in temperatures following the cooler weather Thursday.

Total rainfall will be between one half inch and one inch, mainly over the northeast portion tonight and over the South and Central portions over the weekend.

Until today, the state had received nearly five inches less than normal rainfall.

Duplicate Ranger Shot Is Planned

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) —

Plans to send a duplicate Ranger moon vehicle on a simulated voyage in space were under way today in an effort to find what went wrong with the probe's television eyes.

The duplicate vehicle would, under laboratory conditions, follow as closely as possible Ranger 6's flight, perhaps pinpointing the reason for failure of the vehicle's photographic system.

Jet Propulsion Laboratory spokesmen said that unless the problem is located, the flight of Ranger 7, scheduled for later this month, might have to be postponed.

Despite the failure of the camera system, experts insisted Monday that Ranger 6 impacted in the moon's Sea of Tranquility.

Dental Health Subject of Kiwanis Meet

National Dental Health Week was observed by Hope Kiwanis club Tuesday with some timely advice by Dr. S. W. Strong, principal speaker at the club's luncheon meeting.

He said that 95 percent of American people have dental cavities some time during their life, and he laid down three simple rules to combat this hazard:

1. Avoid sweets. Sweets form acids that penetrate the enamel which starts a cavity. 2. Brush teeth properly. The lower teeth should be brushed upward, and the upper teeth should be brushed downward. The third rule, visit your dentist regularly.

Early detection of an impairment, can save you money and avoid serious trouble later. He said the nation's dental bill averaged two and half billion dollars yearly — but that represents only 40 percent of the population.

Much fear of a dental office can be eliminated by regular visits for proper examination of the teeth, Dr. Strong pointed out.

Normand Gravel of Delight Eggs Farm was a guest.

County Farm Agent

By CALVIN J. CALDWELL

Cost-Share Spray Material — The livestock cost-share insecticide program that has been handled by the Extension Service will be handled by the Hempstead County Farm Bureau. The program will get underway about March 1 of this year. It will be necessary for farmers' checks to be forwarded to the Livestock and Poultry Commission by the local Farm Bureau. This is the program where farmers may purchase Co-Ral, Toxophene, Lin-Tox, Ruelene, Ronnel, Cooper-Tox and a few other livestock insecticides on a cost-share basis.

Cattle Lice Control —

Lice are more numerous during the winter months. Infested animals appear unthrifty with rough hair coats. Cattle are attacked by cattle biting lice and three kinds of sucking lice. A number of insecticides will control lice on cattle. Among the insecticides to use are: Toxophene, DDT, Malathion, Co-Ral, Ronnel and others. Lice are easy to kill, the main thing is to check your cattle and use a good insecticide as directed.

Broiler Production —

Arkansas poultrymen produced 257 million commercial broilers in 1963, 6 percent more than the 1962 production of 243 million birds, according to the crop Reporting Service. Gross income in Arkansas from broiler production in 1963 totaled 116 million dollars, about 4 million dollars, or 3 percent, above the 1962 gross income. During 1963 the price received per pound averaged 13.7 cents, compared with 14.5 cents in 1962.

U.S. Aid to Cyprus Brings Embassy Blast

By HAL MCCLURE

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — An emergency airlift began removing hundreds of American women and children from this Mediterranean trouble spot today as anti-American violence continued on Cyprus.

Terrorists bombed the American Embassy in Nicosia Tuesday night, slightly injuring a Marine guard, then set ablaze two cars owned by U.S. government employees.

U.S. Ambassador Fraser Wilkins ordered a "voluntary" evacuation of American dependents to Beirut, Lebanon, explaining he no longer had confidence in the ability of Greek Cypriot police to keep order.

Archbishop Makarios, the Greek Cypriot president, inspected damage to the embassy and denounced the bombing as the work of "heinous criminals."

The terrorism appeared designed to demonstrate Greek Cypriot opposition to an American-British plan to assign a North Atlantic Treaty Organization peace force to enforce the truce between the island's warring Greek and Turkish communities.

Makarios, in effect, rejected such a force Tuesday by demanding that it be answerable to the U.N. Security Council. The United States and Britain say such a condition is unacceptable because it would give the Soviet Union a chance to interfere.

In Washington, the State Department officials were studying the Nicosia situation. It seemed likely they would return to federal court for an order including the Nicosia city government among those forbidden to bar the entrance of the Negroes into the school.

Mayor Rea declined to comment on what he would do in such a case.

When the bus started to turn into the driveway leading to the Nicosia school, Sheriff James Clark and another police officer boarded the bus and handed out a white youth, Vernon Merritt III.

Merritt is a commercial photographer who had hidden himself on the bus.

His camera was battered by a man identified by Col. Albert J. Lingo, state public safety director, as city policeman.

As the bus halted and the white youth was ejected, about 40 white men yelled curses at the Negroes.

One white man banged on a newsreel camera with a walking stick.

Merritt, blood in the corner of his mouth, was allowed by state troopers to leave the school grounds.

As he left, some of the white men began following, but they were blocked by state troopers, who escorted him to Tuskegee.

Ten minutes after the incident the school was almost deserted. Rea had appealed to Gov. George C. Wallace for state troopers to preserve order and prevent "loss of life."

Lingo said about 75 troopers were posted around the Nicosia school and about 60 at Shorter.

As Rea turned back the Negroes, FBI agents watched from across the street but made no move to interfere.

Rea turned the Negroes back under an ordinance which provides a maximum penalty of $100 fine and 90 days in jail for anyone violating the deterrent.

Negroes Get Way in School at Cleveland

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

CLEVELAND (AP) — Pressured by civil rights demonstrators, the Cleveland School Board has agreed to integrate immediately 800 Negro pupils with predominantly white enrollments.

The Negro pupils are transported daily to three East Side schools from an overcrowded Negro area. Up to now they have been kept in separate classes.

The board also proposed Tuesday night that as a matter of policy, transportation of classes be stopped as soon as possible. Officials of the United Freedom Movement, a civil rights confederation, said the group would suspend all demonstrations pending a meeting tonight at which it will consider the board's plan.

If the school board formally adopts the proposal, it would be at its meeting Monday.

Alabama Town Ignores Order, Bars Negroes

By REX THOMAS

TUSKEGEE, Ala. (AP) — The mayor of a small Alabama town shouldered aside a federal court order today and barred six Negro pupils from a white school. A crowd of angry white men watched and cursed as the Negroes arrived.

Mayor James Rea of Notasulga, a town of 1200, was flanked by police as he invoked a new city ordinance empowering him to limit enrollment at Notasulga High to exactly its current figure.

At nearby Shorter six Negroes entered the only other white public school in Macon County, where Negroes outnumber white persons by about five to one.

A small crowd of angry white men, some carrying walking canes, gathered across the street in front of the Notasulga school, shouted at the Negro pupils when they arrived in a bus, and scuffled with newsmen.

State troopers ringed the school grounds. The Alabama and Confederate flag flew over the school. The U.S. flag was not there.

In Washington, Justice Department officials were studying the Notasulga situation. It seemed likely they would return to federal court for an order including the Notasulga city government among those forbidden to bar the entrance of the Negroes into the school.

Mayor Rea declined to comment on what he would do in such a case.

4 Syracuse Students Are Lost

MT. WASHINGTON N.H. (AP)

—Some 50 searchers today set out to try to find four Syracuse University students lost since last Friday on New Hampshire's storm-swept Presidential Mountain range.

The searchers, all experienced mountain climbers, planned to go as high as timberline, about 4,500 feet up the mountains, in spite of 15-degree temperature and snow squalls which limited visibility to 40 feet.

Missing since they started to climb to the summit Friday, just before the storm set in, were: Peter Catelli, 18, Roseton, N.Y.; Craig Fournier, 18, Tonawanda, N.Y.; Robert Koppe, 21, Massapequa Park, N.Y.; and Peter L. Bradford, mined maximum capacity of any public building. The ordinance was dated Jan. 27.

Classes began at the usual time for the white pupils. It was not learned immediately how many attended classes today.

The two schools were ordered integrated by a federal court order after Tuskegee High School, forced to admit 13 Negroes in September, was shut down by the state school board when all white pupils boycotted it. One of the 13 later withdrew.

A Methodist minister, the Rev. Glenn Simmon of Natasulga, said there was widespread talk of a similar boycott at Natasulga if the Negroes are forced in under another court order.

Meanwhile, authorities listed as obvious arson the burning of three barns Tuesday night on the farm of Don Mercer, a member of the Macon County School Board. On Sunday night, crosses were burned by unknown persons at the homes of three other members of the board.

Tuskegee, the county seat, also faced possible Negro street demonstrations. Students at Tuskegee Institute talked of protest marches through the city if integration in the nearby communities is blocked.

TUSKEGEE, Ala. (AP)—The mayor of Natasulga invoked a newly adopted city ordinance today and refused to admit six Negroes to the all-white Natasulga High School despite a federal court order to desegregate the school.

Six other Negroes by contrast, were admitted quietly to another white high school at nearby Shorter High School, also integrated by federal court order.

Mayor James Ron at Natasulga stopped the six Negro students before they could get off the county school bus and notified them that under the new city fire and safety inspection ordinance the school already had as many students as it could safely accommodate.

The bus, driven by a Negro and occupied only by the six Negro students, left the school grounds and headed back in the direction of Tuskegee, where the students had boarded it.

A commercial photographer, Vernon Merritt Jr., was forcibly taken off the bus and thrown to the ground when it was discovered he had slipped aboard at Tuskegee.

Merritt is a son of the former executive secretary to ex-Gov. Gordon Persons.

State troopers guarded Natasulga High and the school at Shorter and kept all but students and faculty members off the campus. They were under orders from their commander, Col. Al Lingo, to use force if necessary to keep federal agents off school property.

The ordinance invoked by the mayor is dated Jan. 27.

FBI agents at Natasulga made no effort to penetrate the trooper barrier.

By REX THOMAS

TUSKEGEE, Ala. (AP)—With state troopers standing guard, 12 Negro pupils headed for classes at two newly desegregated schools in Macon County today.

The threat of violence and the chance of a mass boycott by white students foreshadowed the possible closing of the last remaining public high schools for white pupils in Macon County.

Authorities listed as obvious arson the burning of three barns Tuesday night on the farm of a county school board member, Don Mercer. Crosses were burned at the homes of three other board members Sunday night.

Six Negroes from Tuskegee High School, which was closed last week, were scheduled to enroll at Natasulga. Six others were ordered admitted to Shorter High School.

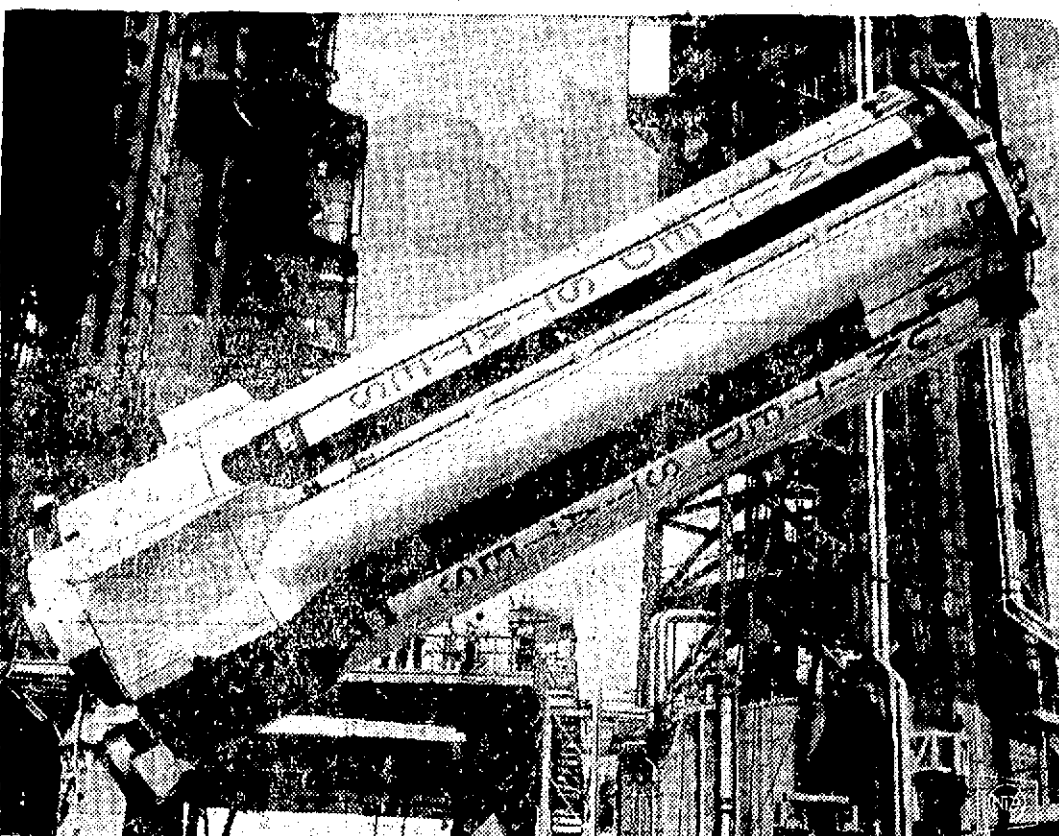

The danger of violence appeared most acute at Natasulga, a farming center 10 miles north of Tuskegee in central Alabama. Mayor James Rea of Natasulga appealed for help from the highway patrol. Safety Director Al Lingo told his men at Natasulga, "we are sitting on a powder keg."

There was less visible apprehension at Shorter, an unincorporated community 15 miles west of Tuskegee. But there, as in Natasulga, angry white residents talked of taking their children out of school. Fifteen pupils walked out at Shorter Tuesday and at least one was taken home from Natasulga by his enraged father.

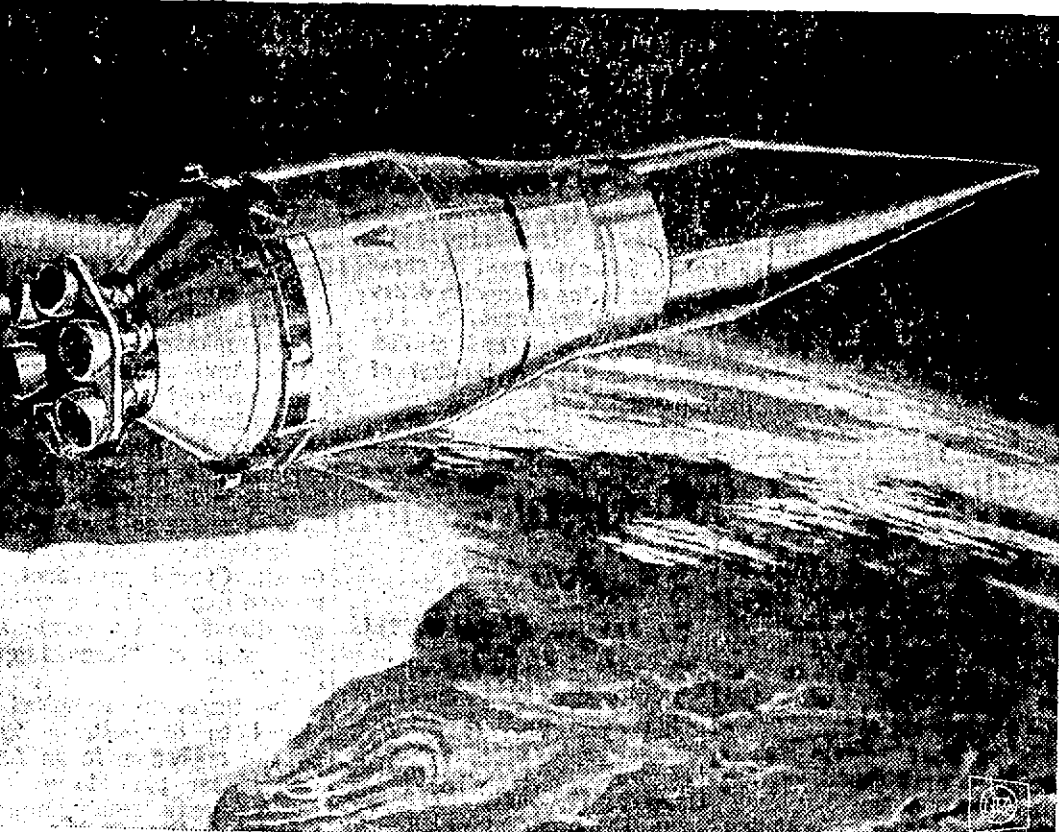

A boycott at previously desegregated Tuskegee High left the school with a student body of only 12 Negroes. The State School Board ordered the school closed as an economic liability.

A U.S. District Court judge ordered the 12 Negroes transferred to the two neighboring communities.

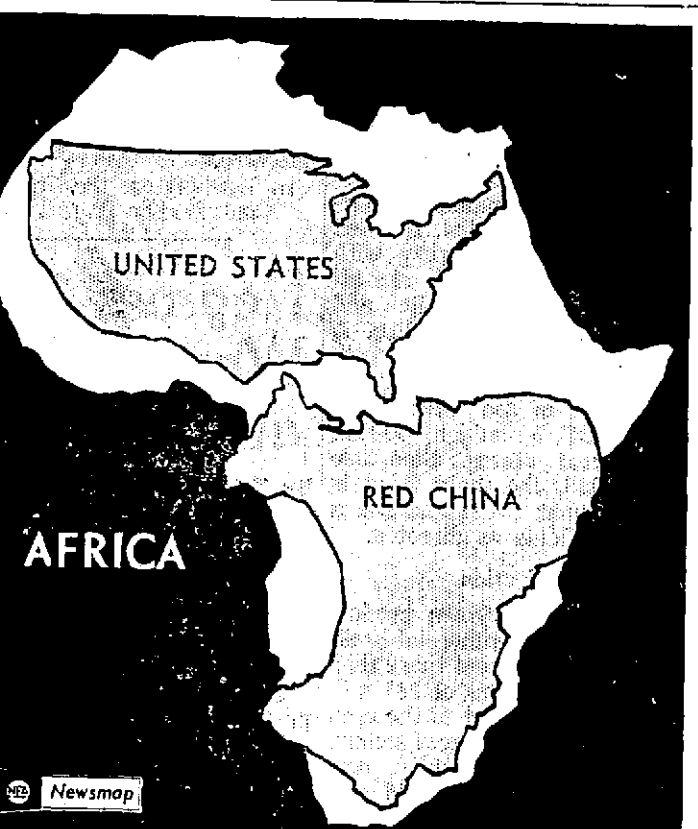

Tuskegee, the county seat, also faced possible Negro demonstrations. Students at Tuskegee Institute talked of protest

Faubus Hires Grid Star Alworth

CAMDEN, Ark. (AP) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus said Tuesday night he has hired former Arkansas football star Lance Alworth to work for him this summer.

"I'm not telling you that — I'm running," Faubus told a meeting of the Camden Junior Chamber of Commerce, "but I have hired Lance Alworth to work for me this summer."

"And if I decide not to use him, I could farm him out and whoever he worked for would be elected governor and I would be in the good graces."

Faubus lauded the progress of the state under his administration, citing instances where officials of other states came to Arkansas to learn better ways of attracting business and operating legislatures.

marches through the city if integration in the nearby communities was blocked.

About 175 state troopers guarded the Natasulga and Shorter schools Tuesday. But the mechanics of transferring from one school to another delayed the desegregation until today.

Lingo warned the troopers on the lawn of Natasulga High: "the situation (here) is worse than it was at Tuscaloosa, Birmingham or Auburn."

Propane Fire Traps Santa Fe Train

BOSWORTH, Mo. (AP) — A 100 car freight train rumbled into a cloud of gas fumes drifting across the tracks and a moment later the cloud exploded in a towering mass of flames Tuesday night.

The Santa Fe train, its five diesel units knocked out of service by loss of power, rattled to a halt.

Beside the tracks, about 190 yards away, flames roared 200 to 400 feet high from a pit marking a break in a propane gas pipeline.

Hours later the fire flickered out after workmen of the Mid-American Pipeline Co. closed valves on both sides of the break.

Three of the five train crewmen suffered slight burns and were treated at the scene by Missouri Highway Patrolmen.

The diesel and some of the freight cars were scorched but didn't catch fire. Another locomotive was sent out from Kansas City, about 80 miles away, to take the train on into the city.

The pipeline carries propane from Tulsa, Okla., to Janesville, Wis. Propane is a heavy gas which becomes liquid under pressure.

Traffic Death Toll in 1963 Spirals Up

By JOHN R. STARR

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The traffic death toll in Arkansas spiraled upward again in 1963 and a State Police official said today that a stricter driver licensing program and driver education appear to be the only solution to the mounting death rate.

The state reported 563 deaths last year and Capt. Jack Rhea said the toll is increasing again this year. Arkansas had only 516 deaths in 1962, the lowest total since 1941's 50.

State Police were jubilant when last year's low total was reported because driving mileage had increased greatly since 1941.

Rhea was gloomy about today's report.

"It looks like these people have gone stark wild again," he said.

Rhea said the state and the nation have more automobiles, more mileage driven and cars are traveling at a higher rate of speed.

"The engineering is better and automobiles are better but drivers are not," he said. "We have got to eliminate this whole business of petty traffic violations such as illegally changing lanes, failing to stop at stop signs and failure to yield the right of way."

These are small mistakes, Rhea said, "but you lose your life on a small mistake."

The 563 persons died in 477 fatal accidents, 208 involving two or more vehicles, 181 involving only one vehicle and 88 involving pedestrians.

State Police investigated 7,952 accidents during the year, by far the largest number—5,487—involved two or more vehicles.

Johnson to Review Chaffee Order

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson will review an order to close Ft. Chaffee at Fort Smith, Ark., Tom Harper of Fort Smith said Tuesday after meeting with Johnson.

"It wasn't too definite and not very encouraging, I would say," Harper said of the meeting.

Johnson told Harper, Democratic national committeeman from Arkansas, that the closing order was a military decision, but possibly deserved another examination.

Founder of KARK Dies at Age of 88

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Rev. Marion Edward Borders of Little Rock, founder of radio station KARK, died Tuesday at a Little Rock hospital. He was 88.

Borders was an ordained Baptist minister. He moved to Little Rock from Chicago in 1925 to pastor the First Church of the Nazarene.

The church operated the station for four years before selling it. It was one of the first in the state.

Borders was a native of Hodgenville, Ky.

Insurance Ruling Appealed by State

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The State Insurance Commission appealed to the state Supreme Court Tuesday an order invalidating a 1963 law requiring out-of-state insurance firms to invest 50 per cent of their Arkansas reserves in the state or pay a half-cent increase on premiums.

The appeal was from a Pulaski Chancery Court ruling which said the Act 528 of 1963, measure constituted tax legislation and required approval by a three-fourths majority of House members. It received a simple majority of 61 votes.

be proved safe before marketing and that federal inspection of foods, drugs and cosmetics be expanded.

Require inspection of all meat and poultry sold in the country, whether or not it crossed state lines. Johnson noted that present federal law requires inspection only of these items when they cross state lines.

Grant subpoena authority in administrative hearings under the Food, Drug and Cosmetic Act.

Require warnings of accident hazards on labels for drugs, cosmetics, and pressurized containers.

End the practice of allowing pesticide manufacturers to market their products before they have been certified as safe by the Agriculture Department.

Grant the Federal Trade Commission authority to issue temporary cease-and-desist orders, subject to court review, when the FTC believes continuation of alleged false advertising or other unfair practices would irreparably injure the public.

Extend to over-the-counter stocks and bonds the same full disclosure requirements that now insure public release of financial data about securities traded on the stock exchanges.

A much-discussed bill to require "truth-in-packaging" has been introduced by Sen. Philip Hart, D-Mich., and Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y.

The measure, designed to make it easier for the housewife to compare packages of competing products, had Kennedy's approval.

So, too, did a "truth-in-lending" bill that would require advance disclosure of the annual rate of interest to be paid by a borrower.

Johnson last month placed added emphasis on consumer problems when he appointed Esther Peterson, an assistant secretary of labor, as his special assistant for consumer affairs.

Although Mrs. Peterson has retained her labor post, she plans to move her office soon to the Executive Office building next door to the White House. There she will direct the fast-multiplying activities of the newly created President's Committee on Consumer Interests, which she heads.

The committee was told by Johnson to "lead the campaign of a America's homemakers against sharp practices and unwarranted price increases."

Johnson has indicated that he will expect the committee to help raise a public clamor about any inflationary hazards that might grow out of the economic boom which he predicts will follow enactment of the tax cut now awaiting Senate action.

Johnson also created a Consumer Advisory Council, similar to one established by Kennedy, to be composed of private citizens qualified to represent consumer interests.

This group is to advise the government on issues of broad economic policy of concern to consumers and to study government programs to protect consumers or meet their needs and recommend improvements in the flow of consumer research material to the public.

committee that helped shape the bill and a strong supporter of many of its provisions, favors limiting federal action solely to facilities used by interstate travelers. His amendment would cover only hotels, motels, eating places and service stations on interstate highways.

House leaders hope consideration of the bill will move along faster starting today. After two days, action still has not been completed on two titles and there are eight to go.

Wilkins said the burning of the cars appeared to be part of a "hit-and-run campaign." There were no reports of any further injuries.

Cpl. Henry Theriaque, 26, of North Windham, Conn., an embassy Marine guard, was cut slightly in the leg by one of the embassy blasts Tuesday night.

Two bombs exploded just under the windows of Wilkins' apartment in the modern, six-story embassy. The blasts knocked out part of the wall and disrupted the embassy's telephone system.

U.S. Consul George McFarland said he saw a man get out of a car, drop a package near the embassy wall and then speed off in the vehicle. The embassy was evacuated after McFarland's alert.

Theriaque was knocked off his feet by the second blast as he walked around the corner of the building to inspect damage from the first explosion.

Pan American World Airways sent two jetliners to Nicosia to make shuttle runs across the Mediterranean to Beirut, 160 miles away. The first plane to depart carried 57 women and children.

The evacuation was expected to be completed by Thursday. The American community on Cyprus numbers about 1,700 persons, about 1,200 of them dependents. It was not known how many of the latter would leave.

Smoking in Bed Is Now Illegal

NEW YORK (AP)—The City Council passed an ordinance Tuesday that would make it illegal to smoke in bed in any motel or hotel.

Fire Commissioner Edward Thompson told the council that 589 fire deaths in the city last year resulted from smoking in bed.

Councilman Theodore R. Kupferman said the measure "would make us the laughing stock of the nation," adding that to enforce it "would require breaking into rooms to get evidence."

Girls Smoke as Much as Boy Students

By JOY MILLER
AP Women's Editor

As many girls as boys smoke. High school students find it harder to kick the habit than adults.

These are some findings in a Harvard University study of smoking by high school students and their families in Newton, Mass., a suburb of Boston.

The American Cancer Society says that, because much of the data makes Newton's smoking habits consistent with national patterns, the study could reflect a national trend.

The report on Newton by Drs. Eva J. Salber and Jane Worcester indicates that 57.4 per cent of the mothers smoke cigarettes compared with 49.9 per cent of the fathers.

Results of the Harvard study, supported by the American Cancer Society, appear in the current issue of Cancer, a medical journal.

Dr. Salber began the study in November 1959, by having 6,810 Newton high school students fill out questionnaires on their own and their parents' smoking habits. More than a year later, a random sample of 336 students and 319 mothers were interviewed.

The researchers discovered there are twice as many non-smoking mothers as fathers, 34.8 to 15.8 per cent. But the proportion of smokers is about the same for both parents because nearly one quarter of the fathers have given up tobacco, compared with only 7.8 per cent of their spouses.

When the male 11 per cent who smoke pipes and cigars is subtracted from the total of the smokers, more women are smoking cigarettes than men.

The most common amount smoked by parents is between one and two packs a day. More men enjoy over two, and more women smoke fewer than one.

The study shows that Catholic fathers and sons and Jewish mothers and daughters are the most numerous cigarette smokers. Catholic mothers and daughters and Protestant fathers and sons are the least frequent smokers.

Revenue Men Indicted for Taking Bribes

WASHINGTON (AP)—Three employees of the Internal Revenue Service and two accountants were arraigned in New York today on charges that they paid or took bribes to get favorable tax audit treatment for clients of the accountants.

The three IRS workers all are from the Manhattan district office of the tax agency.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy said the arrests and arraignment of the five followed an extensive investigation by the IRS.

The employees named in the complaints are Herbert Frank, 39, of North Valley Stream, N.Y., a 10-year employee and collection officer; Leopold Weisberg, 42, of Jericho, N.Y., a regional analyst who assigns cases for tax examinations and has also worked for the IRS for 10 years; and Saul Wolf, 50, of Floral Park, N.Y., a 19-year IRS veteran and tax technician responsible for examining returns and conducting audits.

The accountants providing the complaints are Louis Irwin, 51, of New Rochelle, N.Y., and Sol Myers, 43, of New York City.

Irwin allegedly paid $400 to an unidentified IRS official on June 17, 1963. Myers is charged with paying $50 to an IRS official last Oct. 18 with the intention of winning a favorable tax audit for a client.

Weisberg allegedly paid $75 to an IRS co-worker, on Jan. 2, 1961. Wolf is charged with receiving $50 last Nov. 1 and Frank allegedly received $300 Oct. 31.

last Wednesday has been identified as Harold Lewis Keating, whose last known address was Cincinnati. Deputy Coroner W. R. Lee had ruled that the man died from poisoning, and two small bottles of poison were found near his body.

DOROTHY DIX

DID SHE MARRY THE WRONG MAN?
By Helen Worden Erskine

Dear Helen: The names in this letter are fictitious but the problem tragically real. It concerns me and two boys, Bob and Carl, now grown men.

I had been dating Carl when I met Bob. After our second date Bob promised to phone for a third, depending upon when he could get the family car. This was essential because he lived in another town. Meanwhile Carl asked for a date. I accepted, hoping there would be no conflict but, of course, there was and I had to turn Bob down. He did not call again.

Later, when Carl and I were picnicking with friends near Bob's home town, Bob came racing up in the family car and picked up my girl friend Sue. I felt jealous. Afterwards Sue told me Bob said I was the one he cared for.

I felt he might have phoned whenever he had a chance at the family car but he never did. Carl and I were married the following year. Loving him as best as I knew how, I've tried to adjust to his way of life and to help him in every way I can. This has been a long while for we're both now middle-aged.

Occasionally I thought of Bob with resentment because of his treatment. Recently, however, I began to reconsider Bob and I had similar personalities; both quiet and sensitive and were seemingly happy and contented together. Proud and sensitive, had he misunderstood about the car? Was he embarrassed at not owning one, as Carl did?

Reliving those wonderful evenings Bob and I spent together, I could no longer believe his actions stemmed from disinterest. Undoubtedly he thought I preferred Carl because he owned a car. I regretted not telling him then and there that the car made no difference. If I had known he cared, I would have given up Carl. But my pride had been hurt once by being jilted and I was on the defensive.

Strange enough, not many days ago, while seated in the dining room of our local department store, Bob (now a successful business man; passed by with two friends, Dazed from the shock of seeing him, I did not speak when he turned back. As I met his gaze, he came closer, looking deep into my eyes for recognition. I saw no resentment, only profound admiration and tenderness. I turned away and he swiftly rejoined his friends.

Have I magnified this, weep-

DeGaulle in Firm No to U.S. Policy

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—French President Charles de Gaulle, like a man descending the mountain with two tablets of stone, for a year has issued pronouncements saying "no" to American policy.

He banned the British from the European Common Market; refused to agree to a nuclear test-ban treaty; advocated neutralization of Southeast Asia; and recognized the sovereignty of Red China.

In each case he acknowledged some benefit to France. Americans can't consider this a mortal sin by itself, since they are concerned about benefits to this country.

But he is part of the Western alliance. If there were a few more De Gaullies there could be no alliance.

His repeated negations have been explained by apologists as the work of a man with a mystical belief in the revival of French greatness. But there has been pettiness in much of what he did, almost hostility.

There can be doubt that much of his mysticism is any more than political and personal immaturity.

There is immaturity in his obsessive nationalism which would have been more fitting in the 18th Century when Napoleon was emerging and French horizons seemed unlimited.

But Western Europe's nationalism brought two world wars and chaos. To try to restore it as intensely as De Gaulle is doing is to turn the clock back.

He has given demoralized France stability since he started his reign in 1958—reign is not an inaccurate word, for France now looks more like a monarchy than a republic—but there is no assurance the deluge won't follow him.

His personal immaturity is in his need for grandeur and the trappings of grandeur, in himself and France. He resents what he considers affronts and to maintain his ego retaliates with obstruction, like a child tearing toys.

On Jan. 14, 1963 he arranged for a news conference at such a time and with such a purpose—just shortly before the late President John F. Kennedy addressed Congress—that he tormented the President.

Kennedy happily announced a "new era of interdependence and unity taking shape" in Europe which "we regard as a welcome partner . . . not a rival." He was thinking of the creation of the European Common Market.

But by the time he got the words out De Gaulle already demonstrated how little unity there was by announcing he was banning Britain from the market. He said Britain was not a European nation.

This was nationalism at its worst. With Britain out of the market, France figured to dominate it, although the market was intended as one more step toward subordinating nationalism to common interests.

That wasn't all De Gaulle did that day. He rejected American-British proposals for a multilateral NATO nuclear force armed with Polaris missile-firing submarines.

Food Stamp Plan Shelved by Committee

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Agriculture Committee voted today to shelve a bill to expand and make permanent the food stamp plan—a key part of President Johnson's farm plan sent to Congress last week.

The food stamp plan, started on a pilot basis in 1961, enables needy families to buy more food at regular grocery stores by means of coupons. It is still on a pilot basis, operating in 39 counties and three cities.

Johnson coupled his request to expand the food stamp plan with a request for a five-year extension of the Food for Peace program, under which more than $12 billion in farm surpluses have been sent to underdeveloped countries.

The committee vote was to table the food stamp measure, dropping it from consideration.

The action did not affect the Food for Peace program, which is generally popular in Congress.

The food stamp bill can be revived in committee if some member on the winning side in today's vote moves for reconsideration. Administration pressure for that can be expected.

Thinks U.S. Debt Nearer $1 Trillion

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Dr. Ernest L. Wilkinson, a candidate for the U.S. Senate in Utah, said Monday that the national debt is nearer $1 trillion than the $300 billion listed by the government.

Wilkinson, in Little Rock to address the 25th annual Freedom Forum, said in an interview the $1 trillion figure takes into account actual debt and services already rendered for which the government must pay.

The debt breaks down, Wilkinson said in an interview, to $5,400 for each person in the country. He added that the size of the debt was one reason he resigned as president of Brigham Young University at Provo, Utah, to enter the Senate race against Sen. Frank E. Moss, a Democrat. Wilkinson is a Republican.

Wilkinson was one of half a dozen speakers on today's Forum schedule. Others included William J. Greede of Milwaukee, a former president of the National Association of Manufacturers, and Frank Ahlgren, editor of The (Memphis) Commercial Appeal.

to risk destruction of American cities to preserve European freedom but two days later De Gaulle's information minister warned Europe against trusting its safety to America indefinitely.

The United States, Britain and the Soviet Union on July 25 initiated a nuclear test-ban treaty. Four days later, De Gaulle said France would not sign and intended to develop its own nuclear weapons.

Then on Aug. 29—although the United States has pumped billions in aid into South Viet Nam to help the war against the Communist guerrillas of North Viet Nam—De Gaulle proposed the two Viet Nams be neutralized with French help. Such a step could wreck the whole Southeast Asia Treaty Organization.

France had been driven out of Viet Nam in 1951, after holding it as a colony since the 19th century. Neutralization, with the United States withdrawn, might enable France to recapture some of its old influence.

Every Fight for Archer Was a War
NEW YORK (AP) - Jimmy Archer was a mauling club fighter in his day. Every fight was a war. Take two to land one. That was the way he fought. It was like that in the gym when he boxed his kid brother, Joey.
Those days are gone. Now Jimmy 29, is the manager and Joey, 26, is the fighter, a combination that is not unique but by no means common in the fight business. Joey is just the opposite type, a skillful boxer with good moves.
Joey is working his way toward a middleweight title bout - he hopes - with Joey Giardello. His 38-1 record has earned him No. 2 ranking by both the World Boxing Association and Ring magazine. Joey risks his chances for a Giardello bout Friday night in a Madison Square Garden match with Holly Mims, a 35-year-old veteran of almost 100 fights.
"The Garden has offered Giardello $100,000 to fight Joey," Jimmy said today. "I understand he wants a couple of nontitle fights first before his six months run out. I asked him at the Boxing Writers dinner if he wanted to fight Joey a nontitle bout, but he wasn't interested."
Whatever happens to Joey the money should stay in the family. He won't be thrown in over his head. After all, his manager loves him like a brother.

Maloney Is Star, Thomas in a Slump

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) - A year ago today Lee Thomas seemed on the threshold of stardom with the Los Angeles Angels and Jim Maloney was on a treadmill to oblivion with the Cincinnati Reds. Today, it's quite another story.
Thomas came to the Angels from the New York Yankees in 1961 and batted .285 with 24 homers and 70 RBI. The following season he hit .290, slammed 26 homers and knocked in 104 runs. He tied a major league record with nine hits in a doubleheader against Kansas City in his rookie year.
Maloney, a right-hander, had signed a $100,000 bonus contract with the Reds in 1959, and had compiled a 17-20 mark in three undistinguished seasons. He was also burdened with a 27.00 World Series earned run average achieved against the Yankees in one disastrous inning during the 1961 classic.
Then came 1963 and today Maloney is a star and Thomas must prove he can come back from a nightmarish season.
The Cincy pitcher had a 23-7 record and his 265 strikeouts was second only to Sandy Koufax' 306. He tied a modern record fanning eight Milwaukee Braves in a row in an early season game and had a 2.77 ERA.
Thomas was a main factor in the collapse of the Angels from 1962 pennant contenders to ninth place in '63. The rangy first baseman-outfielder hit a meager .220 with only nine home runs and 55 RBI.
Both players signed their 1964 contracts Tuesday, Maloney accepting a handsome raise and Thomas reportedly escaping the expected slice.
Tuesday's other major signee was Johnny Podres whose 14-12 record was almost a carbon copy of the 15-13 he logged in 1962.
In the four-game World Series sweep, Podres shut out the Yankees for eight innings and won the second game, 4-1.
The New York Mets led the signing derby with four signees Tuesday. Pitchers Grover Powell and Steve Dillon, outfielder Dick Smith and catcher Lloyd Flodin inked Met pacts.
In addition to Maloney, Cincinnati signed infielder Charlie Neal, Pitcher Phil Ortega and infielder Nate Oliver also agreed to Dodger terms.
Kansas City enrolled outfielders Jose Tartabull and Nelson Matthews and Washington added Fred Valentine, another outfielder. The Yankees signed three pitchers picked up in the draft, Gil Downs, Rich Marcy and Jimmy Marujo.

Man, Wife Killed in Auto Wreck
STUTTGART, Ark. (AP) - Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Crum of near Humphrey (Arkansas County) were killed Monday night when their car and a pickup truck collided on U.S. Highway 79, four miles west of Stuttgart.
The driver of the truck, William L. Freeman, 39, of near Stuttgart, was critically injured. State police said Mrs. Crum, 21, was in the late stages of pregnancy. Crum was 25.
Freeman, driving west, was attempting to make a left turn off the highway when the accident occurred. State Trooper Ben Cavins said. Freeman was taken to a Little Rock hospital.

THE STORY: Chef Covalt has been murdered by a slug from a powerful argun. Because both Duffey and Covalt's widow might be accused, Maggie O'Brien is keeping them away from police until they can get legal advice.
XV
Maggie caught her as she turned, grabbed her by the shoulders, and marched her across the room until her knees caved in under her at the edges of my bed. Still holding to the girl, Maggie said, "Get along with it, Herbert, and make it stick!"
I was across the room and had my hands on Maggie's arms when Maggie said with complete disgust, "If you two children don't stop acting like babes in toyland..." she disregarded my grasp and said urgently to Gail, "Haven't you the sense to play this for what it's worth? Let Maggie help you! Believe me, honey, I'm going to shoot the works."
I discovered I was shaking, too. "Why?" I demanded. "Why shoot the works for either of us?"
Maggie let go of Gail and took care of me. She brushed my hands from her arms. "Duffey," she said, "I love you. You're my kind of guy. Also, and if this seems insolent I'll still say it, the fact of you has made Herbert more bearable. If I could hire you, and I could, I'd hire you to talk to Herbert about his birds. When this is all over you still may owe me that."
"So I owe you that," I said. "You take that to Payson, Gail and you. I have a cabin up there. Frazier or nobody else can find that out unless they find you, either one of you. If you two will go up there and behave yourselves and not stick your heads off the property until I get this thing cleared up, then I'll collect my debt."
We never found out what happened between Herbert and Charlton. When he came back, Herbert was shaking his head, and before we got down to any of the details Maggie sent him out to borrow the car of a gardener named Jim. He was to have the Renault until we returned and $50 to keep his mouth shut.
Maggie described the route to Gail and just exactly where on the road between Payson and Pine we turned east toward the Rim.
Gail knew the road we had to use to turn off from the highway to get to Maggie's cabin. It wasn't much more than an improved firebreak. About half a mile in we came to the locked chain gate. Barbed wire snaked off through the pines on either side. I got out and opened the gate with the key Maggie had given us. Afterward, I locked it behind us. It was about a mile to the cabin.
The cabin was neat and comfortable, without pretense, and seemed to fit Maggie more than Herbert. I remembered her throwing away her foxes and kicking off her shoes.
I carried the baskets of food in from the car, while Gail went around opening windows. In her faded Levis and checkered shirt, she moved with a quiet grace that was pretty to watch. We sat on the front steps to eat our picnic lunch. A jay came down to share the crumbs and he brought several friends. I finally said, "If we ever get out of all this, I'm going to find a place like this and come and just sit."
"Why didn't you? In the beginning, I mean."
"Because there were a few things to be done. There still are." It was the understatement of the year.
Gail said, "When I was a kid, I didn't know there were places like this. Central Park was for the squirrels. I used to think somebody painted the backgrounds for John Wayne in Technicolor."
"But you got out here," I said.
"Sure," she said, "By way of Las Vegas. Ever go there?"
"Matter of fact, I did once. Washed dishes to do it. 'Pearl diving.' My partner used to say, 'ever find a pearl, Tiger?' Every day we came on duty, four to one, dinner included, and all the pearls we could find."
"When was that?" She spoke quickly urgently.
"June, July, 1961."
"And you never saw the 'Paradise Island Review'?"
"The big boy, the singer with a bull whip, the show girls of the road between Payson and Pine we turned east toward the Rim."

Hope 3-3 in District, Title Hopes Slim

Div. 4AA basketball teams start their final round of play in the double round robin schedule this weekend. The Malvern Leopards continue to lead the standings.

Aside from the Leopards the rest of the league is playing a "dog eat dog" brand of ball. Four teams are tied for second with 3-3 records.

Only Smackover was able to defeat Malvern in the first round of play.

In results last week Fairview defeated Smackover 69-52; Crossett set down Camden 63-50; Hope downed Crossett 86-71; Fairview upset Hope 89-77; and Malvern edged Camden 46-44.

Games this weekend send Camden to Smackover; Fairview to Malvern; and Magnolia to Crossett on Friday night. Saturday night games find Crossett at Fairview; Malvern at Hope; and Smackover at Magnolia.

In its remaining games Malvern plays Fairview, Magnolia and Smackover on their home court, and travel to Hope, Crossett, and Camden.

Hope's Dan Jones took over the leadership in the individual scoring with 125 points in six games. Bobby Bush of Fairview jumped to second with 103. Malvern's James Chancellor dropped from first to third with a 102 total. Hope's Honeycutt has 91, Rhinehart 74, and Burnett 67.

The Standings:

Team	W	L
Malvern Leopards	5	1
Camden Panthers	3	3

Crossett Eagles	2	4

Shockers' Three Losses Were Early

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Is anybody going to beat the Wichita Shockers in college basketball in 1964? Right now the answer seems to be "no."

The Shockers scored their 11th straight and 15th in their last 16 games by defeating Chicago Loyola 65-60 Tuesday night.

True, the Shockers have lost three games, but all three were in December. Since their Dec. 21 setback by Ohio State, all their games have been on the right side of the ledger to make their over-all record 17-3 with six regular season games left.

In defeating the defending national collegiate champions for the second time this season, the Shockers delighted a home town turnout of 10,723.

Pairing the fourth-ranked Shockers and the ninth-ranked Ramblers in this week's Associated Press poll the game topped Tuesday's national collegiate program.

Once-beaten Davidson, No. 5, was the only other team in The AP Top Ten to see action. The Wildcats crushed William and Mary 111-84 for their 17th triumph in 18 starts.

Providence, the NIT champs, walloped Boston College 102-78 for its 10th in a row. Texas A&M tightened its hold on the Southwest Conference lead by whipping Baylor 83-58. Missouri edged Kansas 59-58 in the Big Eight and Lehigh upset Columbia 56-53.

Dave Stallworth upped his Wichita career total to 1,297 points with 16 against the Loyola Ramblers. Little Ernie Moore was the Wichita high scorer with 24. Less Hunter, with 23, and Vic Rouse, with 17, led the Ramblers.

Virginia Tech broke a two-game losing streak by beating Richmond 103-85 behind Howard Pardue's 31 points. In other games Wake Forest downed South Carolina 92-79. Bradley defeated Marquette 81-73. Tem-

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—Arkansas suffered its second Southwest Conference basketball loss of the season Tuesday night, hitting a cold spell and letting Rice slip away, 76-63, at Fayetteville.

Arkansas led 36-29 at half-time, and moved out to a 46-37 lead with 16 minutes to play.

Then the Razorbacks went cold and Rice took over, 51-50, on a field goal by 6-foot-11 Kendall Rhine. Don Siegmund netted five straight points to pull the Owls away, and they stayed in front.

Wilkins to Make Known Plans Today

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—A former Oklahoma football Coach Bud Wilkinson is expected to announce at a 10 a.m. (EST) news conference today that he will seek the Republican nomination for the U.S. Senate.

Wilkinson, 47, has been inching toward a political career for several months and since Jan. 1 has methodically burned his athletic bridges.

He is expected to run for the U.S. Senate seat now held by J. Howard Edmondson, who resigned as Oklahoma governor to accept appointment to the post after the death Jan. 1, 1963 of Sen. Robert S. Kerr.

The political speculation was given fuel Jan. 11 when Wilkinson resigned as head football coach after 17 seasons. He resigned as athletic director Jan. 18 and a week ago severed his last athletic tie with the announcement that he had resigned as special consultant to the President's Council on Physical Fitness.

Wilkinson was the nation's

Doesn't Give Americans Much to Do

By JIM BECKER

INNSBRUCK, Austria (AP)—The Americans here at the Winter Olympics make it a point to watch the victory ceremonies when members of the U. S. team get medals.

That doesn't give them much to do these Winter Games—are just not our cup of coffee—so they spend their spare time making up their own Olympic awards.

The honors will be distributed later at the Innsbruck Police Station so all the people who have been arrested for tangling with officious Olympic officials can watch.

Here is a partial list of winners:

Tightest ski pants—Liv Jagge of Norway, one of those well-laundered Scandinavians fresh from the Sauna, with the most outstanding shape in the Games.

Her ski pants are fire engine red, and wherever she goes the snow is never quite the same again.

Prettiest hair style—Barbi Henneberger of Germany, who sticks out two little pigtails sticking out from under her knitted cap. Her smile is to be avoided by those with weak hearts, but it is reported she is engaged to a fellow who has so much money he could buy her her own mountain to ski on.

Best protest lodged—Bob Beattie, the American ski coach. So far, he has protested the following: The seedings in the downhill, giant slalom and slalom, the Austrians' walking down the giant slalom course before the race, and the pronunciation of his name. It's Bee-atee, he says. He has not yet protested the outcome of the last Liston-Patterson fight.

Most consistent competitors—The South Korean cross-country skiers. In 1960 at Squaw Valley, a Korean named Kim ate up enough television time to sell 650 carloads of greasy kid stuff while they waited for him to struggle home in the 30-kilometer event. At Innsbruck, another Kim finished one-half hour behind the field. No relation.

Most fascinating non-spectators—The international set, complete with some expensive blondes in high fashion ski outfits, at a plush hotel where they could watch the ski races out the window if they wanted. Instead, they cluster in the lobby and will slivovitz as if the revolution was right over the next giant slalom hill.

There is a cave at Bella Vista which has a big room in it where people can be served lunches and where it is always cool.

Tobogganists From U. S. Escape Injury

By TED SMITS
Associated Press Sports Editor

INNSBRUCK, Austria (AP)—The Soviet Union, Sweden and Norway grabbed gold medals in skiing and speed skating today as fears of new tragedies gripped toboggan and bobsled racers at the ninth Winter Olympic Games.

An American two-man toboggan leaped off the track at Igls, its occupants miraculously escaping serious injury, and protests were raised over the condition of the bobsled run, made dangerous by melting and cracking ice.

A Canadian four-man crew, piloted by Victory Emery, took a surprising lead over Italy's eight-time world champion, Eugenio Monti, in the first two of four runs.

Organizers said if the track is too dangerous Thursday the final two runs may be canceled and medals awarded on the basis of today's two runs.

One United States sled, piloted by Bill Hickey of Keene, N.Y., was fifth and the other, with Larry McKillip of Saranac Lake, N.Y., at the controls, was seventh.

Sixteen Jernberg, Swedish veteran of three Olympics who will be 35 Thursday, won the 50-kilometer ski race at Seefeld, covering the 31 miles and 120 yards in 2 hours, 43 minutes, 52.6 seconds.

Knut Johannessen of Norway captured the 5,000-meter men's speed skating race in the Olympic record time of 7 minutes, 38.4 seconds, leading a 1-2-3 Norwegian sweep.

Claudia Boyarskikh, a 23-year-old Russian schoolteacher, added the 5,000-meter women's cross-country ski title to the 10,000-meter crown she won previously and the Soviet Union also picked up a bronze medal in the event.

In the two-man tobogganing finals at Igls, one U.S. sled leaped off the track but the occupants escaped injury.

The accident, which brought an alarmed hush to the area, occurred at the dangerous Olympic turn on the first run of the two-man toboggan event, won by Josef Feistmantl and Manfred Stengl of Austria.

Jim Higgins of San Gabriel, Calif., and Ron Walters of Gard Grove, Calif., were sailing down the icy chute at 45 miles an hour when they hit the most dangerous curve on the mile-long track.

The sled sailed through the air and two occupants were sent banging into the icy banks. Higgins lay motionless for a while, but Walters immediately got to his feet. Neither was seriously hurt. Both were eliminated.

Meanwhile, Claudia Boyarskikh of the Soviet Union, won her second gold medal with a victory in the women's 5,000-meter cross-country ski race, covering the 5,468 yards in 17 minutes, 50.5 seconds. She earlier had taken the 10-kilometer race.

Mihirja Lehtonen of Finland was second in 17:52.9 and Alevtina Kolchinsk of Russia was third in 18:08.4. Miss Boyarskikh is a blonde, 23-year-old schoolteacher from Sverdlovsk. There were no U.S. entries.

Russia now has 21 medals, including eight golds.

Two-man tobogganing, a new sport to the Olympics, is a thrilling sport to watch.

Feistmantl, a 24-year-old accountant, and Stengl, an 18-year-old schoolboy who becomes the youngest of these Games to win a gold medal, took their sled down the chute twice in the combined time of 1:41.62.

Reinhold Senn and Helmut Thaler of Austria were second in 1:41.91. The Italian tandem of Walter Ausserdorfer and Sigisfredo Mair won the bronze medal with 1:42.87.

Packers Seem Pleased With Draft Choices

By DAVE O'HARA
Associated Press Sports Writer

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP)—Despite the loss of three high draft choices, the Green Bay Packers are pleased with the results in their bidding war with clubs in the rival American Football League.

"We thought from the outset we had a good draft, but now it looks even better to us," Pat Pepler, the Packers' chief talent scout, said today. "We are real pleased right now."

The Packers, dethroned last season after a two-year rule as National Football League champions, had 23 choices in the NFL draft last December. They signed 10, lost four to the AFL and are waiting for six to complete competition in other college sports. The other six were picked as junior eligibles.

Lost were center Jon Morris, a second round selection from Holy Cross; back Ode Burrell of Mississippi State and guard Joe

Bobcats, Lady Cats Victorious at Ashdown

By CARTER HARDAGE
Hope Star Sports Editor

Tuesday night the Bobcats departed from the conference schedule to outgun Ashdown 61-49, while the Lady Cats slipped by a crack Ashdown Girls team 60-54.

The Seniors edged ahead of Ashdown in the first period, and continued to dominate the play for the remainder of the game. Johnny Honeycutt was high man with 23 points, and Dan Jones had 21.

The Girls had to stifle a Third Quarter comeback in order to come home with this match. Ashdown is some of the toughest competition the Ladies have faced this year.

Shirley Smith had 32 points, Annette Hatfield 15, and Phyllis Martin 13.

Earlier in the afternoon, the Junior Girls defeated the Juniors over at North Heights in Texarkana by the slim margin of 26-24, and they had to come from behind in the waning minutes to do that.

Cindy Reese had 11 points for Girls, Debbie Connolly 9, Barbara Thompson 5, and Carol Anthony 1.

Saturday night will be the next action for the Hope cagers, when the Senior five take on tough opposition Malvern in Jones Field House.

Villanova Coach Has Confidence

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

VILLANOVA, Pa. (AP)—Villanova basketball Coach Jack Kraft is not so sure the university's student body isn't prophetic.

Ever since the season started, the Villanova cheering section has been screaming:

"We're No. 1! We're No. 1!"

Villanova's fine team currently is No. 6 in The Associated Press poll. How does Kraft feel about this?

The 42-year-old Kraft — only three seasons out of high school coaching rank — minces no words:

"I think we have a good enough club on any given night to beat anyone in the country. Yes, I think we have a good chance to win the national championship. Maybe the kids are right—we are No. 1."

Villanova has won 16—including nine of 10 on the road—and lost but one, boosting Kraft's over-all college record to 56-18. The Wildcats from Philadelphia's main line won the Holiday Festival in New York over Minnesota.

Should Villanova get to the NCAA tournament — and that's confident that 1962 won't be repeated. That year, the Wildcats were eliminated in the Eastern Regional final by Wake Forest.

Kraft isn't bragging. He's not the type. But he's no shrinking violet either. He has a fine basketball team and admits it could be the club to return college basketball supremacy to the East for the first time since La Salle of Philadelphia won all the marbles in 1954.

The big stars on this Villanova team are Wally Jones, a 6-foot 2 backcourt man who could be the best in his position in the country, and Jim Washington, 6-7 junior, a superior rebounder and scorer.

The Villanova team is as conspicuous off the field as it is on. They all wear blue berets. Coach Kraft finally consented to wear one. He says that's the main reason the team is winning.

"I told them that I'll wear the thing as long as they win."

Stram Leaves Chargers, to Coach Chiefs

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Hank Stram, who shares with San Diego's Sid Gilman the status of dean of American Football League coaches, signed a five-year contract with the Kansas City Chiefs Tuesday at an estimated $30,000 a year.

Stram and Gilman are the only AFL coaches who have held the same jobs all four years of the league's existence.

Lamar Hunt, owner of the Chiefs, stood by Stram after a 6-8 season in 1961 and was rewarded with an AFL crown in 1962 before the franchise was moved here from Dallas.

When the Chiefs floundered unexpectedly in mid-season last fall, there again was no hint of any change in Stram's status and the club finished with three lopsided victories for a 5-7-2 record.

Stram, 40, is a Purdue graduate and was an assistant at Purdue, SMU, Notre Dame and Miami before joining the Chiefs.

His record as Chiefs' coach is 30 won, 24 lost and two tied in regular season play. Including playoff and pre-season games, it

U.S. Barber Is Fastest World Skater

By JOHN GALE
INNSBRUCK, Austria (AP)—

The barber with the world's fastest blades will be back in the barbershop next week wielding a pair of scissors and getting the third degree on how he trimmed the Russians.

Speedskater Terry McDermott, newly married, says he's going straight back to work after winning America's first gold medal of the Winter Olympics. He will not compete in any of the three longer races.

"There are," he explained after his triumph in Monday's 500-meters' speed skating event, "payments to be made — house payments, car payments and down-payment payments."

"I've been away too long and barbers work on commission. So I'll fly out Friday and will be back behind the chair Monday."

On a good day at the shop, McDermott gets through four customers an hour.

On an even better day here Monday, he got through four highly-touted Russians in a fraction over 40 seconds.

McDermott's victory in the 500 meters finally broke Russia's grip on the Olympic speedskating events. It deposited, in Olympic record time, Evgeny Grishin, the Russian world record holder who has made this title his personal property since 1956. Three other Soviet speed skaters also were left behind.

Richard Trenc — "everyone calls me Terry" — McDermott was born and brought up in Essexville, Mich., the son of a sales representative.

His family wanted Terry to become an engineer but the Essexville clipper found barbering is 46-30-2, a .603 percentage.

"As long as Hank wants to be our coach, he will be," Hunt said.

He's been winning skating titles since he was eight years old and also played football and baseball in school.

He's soft-spoken and polite, but gives the impression that he knows what he wants and isn't satisfied until he gets it.

Monday he wanted a gold medal and Russia's best couldn't keep him from bringing it home to Michigan.

Sees Some Bright Spots for Twins

(9th of a series of team prospects for 1964, written under the manager's own byline)

By SAM MELE
Minnesota Twins

QUINCY, MASS. (AP)—I can see some bright spots ahead for the Twins after a disappointing 1963 season for a number of our players who figured so prominently to carry our ball club to the top.

Last year injuries hurt us but other clubs had those, too. Besides injuries, lack of depth in spots, certainly hampered our chances to be serious contenders. We finished third but were 13 games behind.

Reason for my optimism is this: We expect Harmon Killebrew, Camilo Pascual, Jim Kaat, Dick Stigman and young Jim Roland to be in top shape once again.

True, the Twins led the league in home runs but we had our share of strikeouts, too. Consistent hitting is a must if we are to achieve expectations. Power hitters like Killebrew, Bob Allison and Jimmie Hall have the ability to hit for higher average and still maintain their slugging feats.

An inadequate defense hurt us last year. The team finished eighth in fielding in '63 compared to second in '62. We've got to improve that department in '64.

There could be a few changes in our defensive and offensive line-ups for the coming season
